Correspondent BERLIN, July 11.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's address to the all-Nazi Reichstag Friday will ment on the Austrian situation, made more acute by the re-ported resignation of the Poll-fuss cabinet, it became known in official circles today.

This announcement, it was said, is one of the results of Hitler's talks with Benito Mussolini in Venice, just before the executions and kul-ings of June 30.

To Answer Other Points Other points on which Hitler, who was busy today writing the speech will touch on, according to official circles are: Germany's answer to the political bloc system being built up by the French foreign minister, Louis Barthou, a convincing statement on Germany's desire for peace, nd a declaration of Germany's willingness to co-operate with the nations of the world to that end. His speech may include a discussion of the "foreign power" repeatedly charged with conspiring with the late General Kurt Von Schleider who with the site of the resident Roosevelt in transit Schleicher, who with his wife, was killed "resisting arrest," by police, and who subsequently was charged with conspiracy against Hitler in of the locks waiting to cheer the Muchsam was one of the com

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) PEIPING, July 11.-Dr. Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, and other members of his expedition into Chinese Turkestan, have been captured by the forces of the Moslem General Ma Chung Ying, according to reports reaching here today.

The explorers were captured east of Urumchi and are being carried toward Aksu the stronghold of General Ma.

The Hedin party is believed to include, besides the explorer himself, five Swedes, three Mongols and three Chinese scientists. Harold Kierkegaard, a Danish postal commissioner, also is understood to be a member of the party and presumably was captured.

Dr. Hedin's expedition has been in Turkestan several months, seeking Dr. Nils Ambolt, a Swedish scientist, who disappeared in the wilds of Central Asia last November.

GREAT YEAR FOR ORATORS

THIS is going to be a great year for stump speakers and plat- low. And we are frequently remindform orators. Already Professor Tugwell has made one all the fine weather away and had to beg the diligent ant for food in "more or less" successful trip to the Middle West to defend before the embattled farmers the theories of the New Deal, with in any book, of quotations anywhere special emphasis on the AAA.

But there are to be others, some of them who are even ing the precious hours and how once greater orators and greater drawing cards than Prof. Tugwell. Two of these are the fiery independent Republican Senator William E. Borah, who has already begun his campaign against certain phases of the NRA, which he says are fostering monopoly and squeezing the life from the small business man.

Another is the irrepressible Jim Reed, flery independent Democrat, who has already launched a broadside at the last life...But we're not talking about Congress which he regards as the final thing in the way of zeroes such foolish occasional deliberate in statesmanship.

BEAUTIFUL BUT DUMB GIRLS ARE OUT

Judge Joseph Sabbath of Chicago resents the statement of a California educator that college women make the worst wives. The prize in that respect, according to him, goes to the beautiful but dumb girl. He says that when college men and women marry their education gives The little old parlor my grandmother them a common intellectual basis which makes for happiness.

The jurist sheds professional light on another angle of matrimony. It is that marriage of a woman of education to an illiterate man seldom lasts, but that if an educated man marries a dumb woman it is more likely to be a permanent tie. "She's too dumb to leave him, and he can't divorce her just because she's that way."

Eut, after all, nothing can be done about such matches. It may be, as some have insisted, that love is not only blind, but also deaf and dumb.

HOW DO YOU READ?

"Tell me what you eat, and I will tell you what you are," has cried a publicist so often that he can coined a household axiom. Well might Except to the grandest of people another say: "Tell me what you read and I will tell you what you are!"

The mind is the house in which we live more truly than is the body If we furnish the mind garishly we must live in a garish house. If we furnish the mind carelessly, we must live in a slovenly house. If we take our mental furniture only from the past, we shall live in the past alone. If we take it only from the faddish notions of the present we shall live amid fads and foibles, which vanish e'er we know them.

WHISTLER'S CENTENARY

This month marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of James Abbot McNeill Whistler, one of the most notable of American-born painters, Now we haven't a parlor. Our two whose natal day was July 10, 1834, and whose birthplace was Lowell,

The special Mother's Day postage stamps issued this year bore a miniature reproduction of Whistier's famous painting of his own mother, the original of which won the London Salon gold medal in 1884.

He was the son of an American army officer, and started on a military career himself, having three years of training at West Point before he left the service to study art in Paris. After gaining recognition as a painter, etcher and lithographer, he spent most of his time in England and on the continent of Europe.

Whistler was somewhat eccentric and given to quarreling with other artists and critics. He once sued John Ruskin, who had sharply criticized his work, and was awarded one farthing as damages. He ever afterward carried that coin as a watch charm.

The 31st anniversary of Whistler's death also occurs this month, he having died in London on July 17, 1903.

VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF SAFETY

The annual report of the President of the National Board of Fire Underwriters comments on the gratifying decrease in fire loss that was achieved last year. Much of the drop, the report points out, was the result of the extremely low level of property values, but even when that soft stir of feet, and indicated the warts and whispers, along the city street. ON WASTING DAY

It's a lovely day and should a man be sitting indoors on such a good day as this? Should he be sitting there working? I mean, should he be there punching a typewriter?
Should a woman be indoors, doing the chores of a family, and those encless endeavors that are always being finished and always being repeated. Should she be doing such things on such a day?

I'm asking you, should they? And you know that they shouldn't.

Then what should they do doing on such a day—when a light breeze blows and the sunshine sparkles on the water and the distant hills are such a charming blue and a horse kicks up his heels in the field and small lambs play about their mothers and it's such a very nice day to be coing nothing at all?

I say that's what a man should be doing on such a day-doing nothing at all. There are times for vigorous action, and there are times for vig-orous action, and there are times for loafing. This day, you know as well as I do, is made for wasting....1 know the loafer is a deplorable felthe winter time.... And we can look and pick up ten or a dozen wise say-ings about the sinfulness of wastwasted, they are gone beyond recall. Yes, I know and many a man has

Whistler was somewhat eccentric and given to quarreling with other artists and critics. He once sued John Ruskin, who had sharply criticized his work, and was awarded one farthing as damages. He ever afterward carried that coin as a watch charm.

The 31st anniversary of Whistler's death also occurs this month, he having died in London on July 17, 1903.

Underwriters comments on the gratifying decrease in fire loss that was achieved last year. Much of the drop, the report points out, was the result of the extremely low level of property values, but even when that is considered the total destroyed was well under what past experience indicated the waste would be.

Every American citizen should do his part to continue the good work that eliminates fires. No form of waste is more absolute-none is less necessary. Each year fire destroys factories that provide jobs and taxes and purchasing power-it destroys homes and farm buildings-and worst of all, it destroys, on the average, some ten thousand lives.

crease. Dry grass is among the worst, and many a carelessly dropped match or cigarette has started a disastrous fire. The great Berkeley fire of a few years ago began in a small dry field. Look over your property, both house and grounds, for this and other hazards. And don't think one inspection will suffice for the season-constant vigilance is the price of safety when it comes to fire.

There is no room for economic waste in good times, and in bad times. But all the time are glowing, bethe crime of fire becomes the greater. Fire can be licked-but every person must aid if victory is to be won.

BEAUTIFUL BUT DUMB GIRLS ARE OUT

Judge Joseph Sabbath of Chicago resents the statement of a California educator that college women make the worst wives. The prize in that respect, according to him, goes to the beautiful but dumb girl. He says that when college men and women marry their education gives The little old parlor my grandmother them a common intellectual basis which makes for happiness.

The jurist sheds professional light on another angle of matrimony. Was carefully dusted and tidied and It is that marriage of a woman of education to an illiterate man seldom lasts, but that if an educated man marries a dumb woman it is more likely to be a permanent tie. "She's too dumb to leave him, and he On the roses that made up the carcan't divorce her just because she's that way."

But, after all, nothing can be done about such matches. It may be, as some have insisted, that love is not only blind, but also deaf and dumb.

HOW DO YOU READ?

"Tell me what you eat, and I will tell you what you are." has cried a publicist so often that he can coined a household axiom. Well might Except to the grandest of people another say: "Tell me what you read and I will tell you what you are!"

This month marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of James Abbot McNeill Whistler, one of the most notable of American-born painters, Now we haven't a parlor. Our two whose natal day was July 10, 1834, and whose birthplace was Lowell,

The special Mother's Day postage stamps issued this year bore a miniature reproduction of Whistler's famous painting of his own mother, the original of which won the London Salon gold medal in 1884.

He was the son of an American army officer, and started on a military career himself, having three years of training at West Point before he left the service to study art in Paris. After gaining recognition as a Just what would she think and just painter, etcher and lithographer, he spent most of his time in England and on the continent of Europe.

Whistler was somewhat eccentric and given to quarreling with other artists and critics. He once sued John Ruskin, who had sharply criticized his work, and was awarded one farthing as damages. He ever afterward carried that coin as a watch charm.

The 31st anniversary of Whistler's death also occurs this month, he having died in London on July 17, 1903.

VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF SAFETY

The annual report of the President of the National Board of Fire Underwriters comments on the gratifying decrease in fire loss that was achieved last year. Much of the drop, the report points out, was the Through shrill cries of children and result of the extremely low level of property values, but even when that is considered the total destroyed was well under what past experience indicated the waste would be.

Every American citizen should do his part to continue the good work that eliminates fires. No form of waste is more absolute-none is less necessary. Each year fire destroys factories that provide jobs and taxes and purchasing power-it destroys homes and farm buildings-and worst The long road is sleeping, the white of all, it destroys, on the average, some ten thousand lives.

With the coming of summer, certain fire hazards automatically in-Dry grass is among the worst, and many a carelessly dropped The deep boom of surges, the gray match or cigarette has started a disastrous fire. The great Berkeley fire of a few years ago began in a small dry field. Look over your property, both house and grounds, for this and other hazards. And don't think Sweet to dream and linger, in one inspection will suffice for the season—constant vigilance is the price On bright brows of ladies to garof safety when it comes to fire.

There is no room for economic waste in good times, and in bad times But all the time are glowing, bethe crime of fire becomes the greater. Fire can be licked-but every person must aid if victory is to be won.

People don't want a dictator. They merely want somebody to take all the responsibility and do all the work.

Times are better, but we won't feel secure until Brisbane again urges us not to sell America short-but don't gamble.

ON WASTING DAY

It's a lovely day and should a man be, sitting indoors on such a good day as this? Should he be sitting there working? I mean, should he be there punching a typewriter?

Should a woman be indoors, doing the chores of a famliy, and those endless endeavors that are always being finished and always being repeated. Should she be doing such things on such a day? I'm asking you, should they? And you know that they shouldn't. Then what should they do doing on such a day-when a light breeze blows and the sunshine sparkles on the water and the distant hills are such a charming blue and a horse kicks up his heels in the field and small lambs play about their mothers and it's such a very nice day to be doing nothing at all?

I say that's what a man should be doing on such a day-doing nothing at all. There are times for vigorous action, and there are times for oafing. This day, you know as well as I do, is made for wasting....1 know the loafer is a deplorable fellow. And we are frequently reminded of the grasshopper that fiddled and pick up ten or a dozen wise sayings about the sinfulness of wastwasted, they are gone beyond recall.

Normal School Certificates To Be Discontinued

Only Those Now Completing Courses Will Get Certificates

HARRISBURG, July 11 .- Eleven

pleted the two-year course at the fourteen State Teachers colleges represented the last classes to receive what is known as the "normal school certificate" to teach in the elementary grades of Pennsylvania's public schools. Granting of the normal school certificate is to be discontinued by the two-year course next year. All students entering the State Teachers college last fall were en-rolled in four-year courses. However, they may teach at the end of two years if they desire, and receive the "state tandard limited certifi-cate," provided they complete the work satisfactorily and obtain the necessary practice teaching while in college. The status of present hold-ers of normal school certificates will not be charged. FILE EXPENSES

HARRISBURG, July 11.-Candi-

Under the provisions of an amendment to the election laws passed by the 1933 regular session of the General Assembly, committees representing candidates are required to file an expense account within fifteen days after the primary election. Candidates and political committees must both file such accounts within thirty days after the election in November.

Certificates To Be Discontinued

Only Those Now Completing Courses Will Get Cer-

HARRISBURG, July 11.-Eicven hundred students who recently com-pleted the two-year course at the fourteen State Teachers colleges represented the last classes to receive what is known as the "normal school certificate" to teach in the elementary grades of Pennsylvania's public schools.

Granting of the normal school certificate is to be discontinued by the Department of Public Instruc-tion except for a few students who are still enrolled and will complete the two-year course next year. All new students entering the State Teachers college last fall were enrolled in four-year courses. How-ever, they may teach at the end of two years if they desire, and receive the "state sandard limited certifi-cate," provided they complete the work satisfactorily and obtain the work saturactority and obtain the necessary practice teaching while in college. The status of present holders of normal school certificates will not be charged.

FILE EXPENSES

HARRISBURG, July 11 .- Candilates running for State-wide offices and committees working on their behalf have filed a total of 567 expense accounts in the office of the Secretary of the Common-wealth. Under the provisions of an amendment to the election laws passed by the 1933 regular session of the General Assembly, commit-tees representing candidates are redured to file an expense account within fifteen days after the primary election. Candidates and political committees must both file such accounts within thirty after the election in November.

"SLEEPING CAR AIRPLANES" are now a reality, having been foretold in this column and elsewhere for year. Passengers report the trip quiet and peaceful. Some had to be awakened after the plane landed.

Foolish plans are proposed and foolish things are done, but real progress continues.

WHAT IS SAID in the pulpits reflects wide opinion. Here are extracts from a few sermons in one The Rev. Dr. Russell, Presbyter-

THE MARITIME strike on the Pacific Coast causes anxiety among all wise men, in and out of labor ranks. For three months, the strike has cost at least one million dollars a day, a loss that will not be made up. Emergency Relief Board As To Type Of Shoes

BOARD WILL BUY $136,000 WORTH

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 11.—Decision HARRISBURG, July 11.—Decision was awaited today from the state emergency relief board on the type of shoes which it will continue to purchase for Pennsylvania's needy following a hearing yesterday afternoon at which rubber and leather manufacturers extolled the merits of their respective products.

their respective products.

The board at present is purchasing $136,000 worth of shoes with composition soles monthly.

"The evidence is perfectly clear that the composition sole is better." Gov. Gifford Pinchot, chairman of the board, declared at the conclu-sion of the hearing. "I wish it was sion of the hearing. not so because I would like to help

Aged President Of Amalgamated Association To Retire From Post

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 11.—President Michael F. Tighc, 76-year-old leader of the Amalgamated Association of iron, steel and tin workers will retire shortly from the union he has headed for more than a decade, it was reported in reliable sources here today.

Tighe, who with fellow officers of the union, is in conference with the western steel and tin plate manufacturers' association on wage quesions, refused to deny or affirm the report.

It was understood Tighe will pas from the scene of action on union front because of his age and the recent turbulent days in the steel industry. Failure of Republic Steel Corporation to participate in the wage conference has nothing to do with his decision it was learned death of Mrs. Minnie Badger, 64, of Slippery Rock, the jury recommended revocation of the operators' license held by Wm. Eggar of Stoneboro, driver of the car which collided with the Badger machine. The accident occurred on the Grove City-Sandy Lake road, and Mrs. Badged died the following day in a local hos pital. Four other occupants of the Badger car were injured, none seriously, while Eggar and two companions were also hurt.

There were no eye-witnesses, and conflicting testimony was given as to the position of the two cars at impact. It was shown that Mr. Badger was turning off the main highway to the right when the Egger car crashed into it from behind.

PROBE FATAL CRASH

GROVE CITY, July 11.-At a coroner's inquest conducted into the death of Mrs. Minnie Badger, 64, of Slippery Rock, the jury recommended revocation of the operators' license held by Wm. Eggar of Stoneboro, driver of the car which collided with the Badger machine. The accident occurred on the Grove City-Sandy Lake road, and Mrs. Badger died the following day in a local hospital. Four other occupants of the Badger car were injured, none seriously, while Eggar and two companions were also hurt.

There were no eye-witnesses, and conflicting testimony was given as to the position of the two cars at impact. It was shown that Mr. Badger was turning off the main highway to the right when the Egger car crashed into it from behind.

NEW YORK, July 11.-They used to talk about the late Rube Waddell calling in his fielders and retiring the side unalded, although as far as the major leagues were concerned this was sheer fiction, designed to entertain stunted adult minds. They still remember Matty's pitching up in Boston in that final game of the 1912 series just before and immediately after Markle and Snodgrass put the finger on the great master. There was also the time that Alexander went in with a cold arm in the 1926 series to fan Lazerri with three on for the final out, not to mention countless cases of pinch-pitching that both clutter and adorn the records. But all seemed pale and insipid by contrast with Carl Hubbell's successive strikeouts of Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Cronin in the first and second innings of yesterday's all-star major league game at the Polo grounds. It hardly mattered that the American League ultimately beat the National League out of a comical ball game, 9 to 7, for the second straight year. As a matter of fact, after Hubbell de-

Six Strikeonts

To reconstruct the scene; Gehringer opened the game with a single, took second on Berger's fumble and Manush walked. Both advanced on a double steal, Traynor making a weak play on Gehringer at third. Then up stepped Ruth. He stood with feet wide spread and his bat only half-cocked, as a screw his bat only half-cocked, as a screw ball broke down across the plate for a third strike. Gehrig took his three swings and sat down. Foxx managed to nick one back into and under the press coop, but that was all. He swung, too, at a third one, almost falling on his face with the effort. He died in a hospital at Aberavon according to a newspaper clipping handed to the writer by City Councilman David O. Davies. According to the clipping, Mog was 34 years of age and had retired two years ago from the ring. He was one of Billy Beynon's pupils and later jointed the camp of Teddy Lewis at Pontypridd. He is survived by his widow and four young children.

When Mog first came to the United States he fought at New Kens-Ington, atttracted the attention of Carl Tremaine, who, at that time was a big noise in the bantamweight ball hard for the winners.

KILL MORE THAN 500 BEARS LAST SEASON

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 11 .- Effecting two major measures in the con-servation of game, the State Game commission has closed the season on bear for one year and curtailed the bag limit of rabbits, it was announced today.

The daily bag limit on rabbits was cut from 5 to 4 and the seasonal limit from 30 to 24. A staggered season on game birds was again

The closed bear season, the commission pointed out, was necessitated by the fact that at least a third, or 586, of the total population was killed last season.

A number of factors contributed to the large kill, the commission said. It pointed that weather con-ditions were ideal in most of the bear territory, and a good tracking snow enabled successful hunting.

An unusual scarcity of rabbits in various parts of the state prompted various parts of the state prompted curtailment of the daily and seasonal bag limit of this small game animal, according to the commission. Floods during the past few years were also blamed for killing a large number while the young were still comparatively helpless.

Dates for the staggered season on game birds follow: November 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 10, 12, 14, 17, 19, 21, 24, 26, 28, 29, 30.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 11.—Effecting two major measures in the conservation of game, the State Game commission has closed the season on bear for one year and curtailed the bag limit of rabbits, it was announced today.

The daily bag limit on rabbits was cut from 5 to 4 and the seasonal limit from 30 to 24. A staggered season on game birds was again adopted.

The closed bear season, the commission pointed out, was necessitated by the fact that at least a third, or 586, of the total population was sluggers.

I doubt whether any pitcher that baseball ever knew has shown the equal of that effort. Nor was that all.

Starting the next inning Simmons and Cronin fanned without getting the most minute piece of the getting the most minute piece of the ball, and Bill Dickey had two strikes before he got the second foul in this magnificent continuity, another little pop back into the stands. He then singled sharply to left, after which Hubbell claimed his sixth strikeout victim of two innings, Gomez, to round out the record. He retired after holding the American League hitless and runless in the third.

a big, reverberating bust. Ruth just didn't figure at all. Gehrig fanned three times, Foxx got one legitimate single and a very spu-rious double in a high fly that fell safe at Klein's lagging feet in short

Part of the silliness, it seemed to me, involved the playing of Klein in the sun field, where he was pal-pably ill at ease. Manager Terry could have used Paul Waner there, but Terry didn't seem greatly impressed with the importance of the situation. He didn't even have a pitcher warming up when Mungo was being mauled for six runs in the fifth, and when Frankhouse, another pitcher, was due to open the ninth the National League found that it had exhausted every pinch hitter. In fact, it had played found that it had exhausted every pinch hitter. In fact, it had played its hand so badly that when Frisch wanted to leave the game Terry had to ask Cronin to ignore the rules in order to allow Billy Herman, who had batted himself out of the line with the rules for the problem of the line with the rules to the line with the rules of the line with the rule of the rule of the rule of the line with the rule of the rule who had batted himself out of the line-up in the early innings, to finish the game at second base.

However, it was strictly that kind of a pastime. Gehringer not only missed a stab at Ott in the fifth, but made no attempt to tag him after he had overslid the bag. Meantime, a run crossed the plate without drawing a throw. Chapman dropped 2 line drive right in his hands. 2 line drive right in his hands; Frisch dropped a fly ball after waving everybody away. The National League pitchers fanned 12 in seven inings, but walked nine. Cronin forgot the hit-and-run was on with the count three and two on Averill in the sixth, and found Cochrane coming, hot-foot, into second base. Terry allowed Mungo to pitch the fifth with Hartnett catching him, instead of his regular catcher, Lo-

Altogether, it was probably the worst exhibition of ineptitude and, in some cases, stupidity yet vouchsafed by the sterling athletes of the

Kiwanians Hear Talk About Circus

Rev. Charles Johnstone Is Speaker At Noon Hour Meeting Today

A luncheon talk on circuses by one-time circus showman, the Rev. Charles Johnstone, now pastor of the Central Christian church nere, featured today's weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club at The Castleton. It came at an appropriate time when the city is circus-conscious over the impending visit on Friday of the biggest of the "big tops".

Two years ago Rev. Johnstone thrilled the Kiwanians as he told them the heart-throbbing side of circus life, but today he devoted his time to discussion of what a city should demand of a circus and what it in return might expect from a city.

The minister spent years as a circus performer and owner. Rev. Johnstone's message followed a brief ceremony in which the club heard its two retiring "Junior Kiwanians" speak their farewells and welcome their successors. Edward Chapman and Alfred Sadler introduced Ralph Davies and Robert Muse, respectively, as their successors. Chapman and Sadler have been attending Kiwanis for 13 weeks and Davies and Muse will now attend for the next 13. Chapman and Sadler received framed copies of Kiwanis'

Kiwanians Hear Talk About Circus

Rev. Charles Johnstone Is Speaker At Noon Hour Meeting Today

A luncheon talk on circuses by a one-time circus showman, the Rev. Charles Johnstone, now pastor of he Central Christian church nere, featured today's weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club at The Castleton. It came at an appropriate time when the city is circus-conscious over the impending visit on Friday of the impending visit on Friday of the biggest of the "big tops".

Two years ago Rev. Johnstone thrilled the Kiwanians as he told them the heart-throbbing side of circus life, but today he devoted his time to discussion of whose with lime to discussion of what a city should demand of a circus and what it in return might expect from a city.

The minister spent years as a circus performer and owner. Rev. Johnstone's message followed brief ceremony in which the club heard its two retiring "Junior Ki-wanians" speak their farewells and welcome their successors.

Edward Chapman and Alfred Sed-

ler introduced Ralph Davies and Robert Muse, respectively, as their successors. Chapman and Sadler have been attending Kiwanis for 12 weeks and Davies and Muse will now attend for the next 13. Both Chapman and Sadler received framed copies of Kiwanis' aims and objects from Julius Blaha,
